Happy talking business

One of the South Pacific’s wealthiest island nations, Fiji is proving its presence in the tourism industry with its incomparable natural beauty and cultural richness. The country is the region’s leading tourism destination, with an exciting infrastructure and improving road network supported by modern telecommunications services and high standards of education and healthcare.

Fiji has a high GDP per capita and a strong currency, the Fijian dollar. This is one of the highest GDPs in the Pacific region. Fijian has a unique blend of Polynesian, Melanesian, and Micronesian cultures.

Fiji is a popular destination for both leisure and business travelers. The country is known for its white sandy beaches, crystal-clear waters, and lush vegetation. Visitors can enjoy water sports such as snorkeling, diving, and surfing.

Fiji is a member of the Commonwealth of Nations and has a democratic government. The official language is Fijian, which is a Polynesian language, and English.

Fiji is also known for its rich biodiversity, including a variety of plants and animals. The country is home to the highest number of bird species in the world, with over 500 species.

Fiji is a major tourist destination in the Pacific region. The tourism industry is a significant contributor to the country’s economy, providing employment and income for many people.

Fiji has a diverse range of activities for visitors, including snorkeling, diving, hiking, and cultural tours. The country is also known for its friendly and welcoming people, who are proud of their cultural heritage.

Fiji is a major transportation hub in the South Pacific, with its international airport serving many destinations. The country is also well-connected by road and sea, with several ports and ferry services.

Visitors to Fiji can also enjoy the country’s rich cultural heritage, including its indigenous Fijian culture, as well as the influence of the British, Chinese, and Indian communities.

In conclusion, Fiji is a unique and vibrant destination in the South Pacific, with a blend of natural beauty, cultural richness, and exciting infrastructure. The country is an ideal destination for both leisure and business travelers, offering a wide range of activities and experiences.

"Fiji is a great many benefits and opportunities in terms of increased access to foreign markets." - Commodore Josaia Voreqe Bainimarama, Prime Minister of Fiji

"We have always enjoyed connectivity to the global market through diverse routing, cable and satellites." - Suibasha Tikihedua, CEO FINTEL

"Our current trading agreements offer Fiji a great many benefits and opportunities in terms of increased access to foreign markets." - Commodore Josaia Voreqe Bainimarama, Prime Minister of Fiji

Discover the South Pacific suited for business like and high-end industries, tourism and manufacturing. We particularly encourage environmentally friendly, energy-efficient ventures.

Fiji’s telecommunications sector has been one of the main beneficiaries of recent public and private investment, with state-of-the-art technology and fibre-optic networks providing improved Internet access and rural areas.

Substantial investment in the sector has led by telecommunications company FINTEL – a private enterprise owned by the Fijian government and UK-based Cable & Wireless plc. It is the country’s sole licensed international carrier serving the country with an agreement with national network operator Telecom Fiji Ltd.

The firm offers a wide and cost-effective range of voice, data, Internet and video services, and its customers benefit from the latest digital-disk based Exchange.

Access to the global telecommunications network is provided through a combination of direct routes and interconnection with a group of overseas centers as transit switching points. FINTEL, CEO Suibasha Tikihedua says, “We have grown a privileged position – in terms of being chosen as the gateway provider to Fiji until 2021 – and we have always enjoyed connectivity to the global market through diverse routing, cable and satellites.

The real issue is how FINTEL can best make a contribution to the Fijian economy. ICT has become a primary focus of Fiji and we are very proud to have just established its first ICT organization: “The economic drive of the government is to bring in investment from overseas. We want to attract investors by offering prices that are reasonable to them. Established in 1998, the FIB is the independent agency charged with the promotion of new business and investment opportunities across the sector. Acting as a liaison between the private sector and government bodies, the FIB provides a range of services to promote inward investment and development, boost exports and create new employment opportunities.

The ambitious and forward-thinking government of Fiji is determined to position its telecommunications sector as a major investment hub. As a major player in the global communications market, the country is well-positioned to attract new investment and stimulate economic growth.

Minister Bainimarama adds. "Fiji is a leading exporter in the Pacific region and is looking to build on its successful export base. The country is well-positioned to attract new investment and stimulate economic growth. The government is committed to providing a competitive and business-friendly environment for foreign investors. Fiji is a major transportation hub in the South Pacific, with its international airport serving many destinations. The country is also well-connected by road and sea, with several ports and ferry services.

Visitors to Fiji can also enjoy the country’s rich cultural heritage, including its indigenous Fijian culture, as well as the influence of the British, Chinese, and Indian communities.

In conclusion, Fiji is a unique and vibrant destination in the South Pacific, with a blend of natural beauty, cultural richness, and exciting infrastructure. The country is an ideal destination for both leisure and business travelers, offering a wide range of activities and experiences.

"Fiji continues to support Fiji, and improve existing bilateral relations through technical help and training." - Pakea Nason, Chairman, FIB-FINTEL

"Japanese firms will be among the first ICT companies to base themselves in the business park, with their organization helping to provide guidance and advice." - Pakea Nason, Chairman, FIB-FINTEL

Japan is a major investor in the Pacific region, with strong economic ties to Fiji. The government of Fiji is committed to attracting new investment and stimulating economic growth. The country is well-positioned to attract new investment and stimulate economic growth.

Minister Bainimarama adds. "Fiji is an important hub in the global telecommunications market, with a strong and growing industry. The government is committed to providing a competitive and business-friendly environment for foreign investors. Fiji is a major transportation hub in the South Pacific, with its international airport serving many destinations. The country is also well-connected by road and sea, with several ports and ferry services.

Visitors to Fiji can also enjoy the country’s rich cultural heritage, including its indigenous Fijian culture, as well as the influence of the British, Chinese, and Indian communities.

In conclusion, Fiji is a unique and vibrant destination in the South Pacific, with a blend of natural beauty, cultural richness, and exciting infrastructure. The country is an ideal destination for both leisure and business travelers, offering a wide range of activities and experiences.

"Fiji continues to support Fiji, and improve existing bilateral relations through technical help and training." - Pakea Nason, Chairman, FIB-FINTEL

"Japanese firms will be among the first ICT companies to base themselves in the business park, with their organization helping to provide guidance and advice." - Pakea Nason, Chairman, FIB-FINTEL

Japan is a major investor in the Pacific region, with strong economic ties to Fiji. The government of Fiji is committed to attracting new investment and stimulating economic growth. The country is well-positioned to attract new investment and stimulate economic growth.

Minister Bainimarama adds. "Fiji is an important hub in the global telecommunications market, with a strong and growing industry. The government is committed to providing a competitive and business-friendly environment for foreign investors. Fiji is a major transportation hub in the South Pacific, with its international airport serving many destinations. The country is also well-connected by road and sea, with several ports and ferry services.

Visitors to Fiji can also enjoy the country’s rich cultural heritage, including its indigenous Fijian culture, as well as the influence of the British, Chinese, and Indian communities.

In conclusion, Fiji is a unique and vibrant destination in the South Pacific, with a blend of natural beauty, cultural richness, and exciting infrastructure. The country is an ideal destination for both leisure and business travelers, offering a wide range of activities and experiences.

"Fiji continues to support Fiji, and improve existing bilateral relations through technical help and training." - Pakea Nason, Chairman, FIB-FINTEL

"Japanese firms will be among the first ICT companies to base themselves in the business park, with their organization helping to provide guidance and advice." - Pakea Nason, Chairman, FIB-FINTEL

Japan is a major investor in the Pacific region, with strong economic ties to Fiji. The government of Fiji is committed to attracting new investment and stimulating economic growth. The country is well-positioned to attract new investment and stimulate economic growth.

Minister Bainimarama adds. "Fiji is an important hub in the global telecommunications market, with a strong and growing industry. The government is committed to providing a competitive and business-friendly environment for foreign investors. Fiji is a major transportation hub in the South Pacific, with its international airport serving many destinations. The country is also well-connected by road and sea, with several ports and ferry services.

Visitors to Fiji can also enjoy the country’s rich cultural heritage, including its indigenous Fijian culture, as well as the influence of the British, Chinese, and Indian communities.

In conclusion, Fiji is a unique and vibrant destination in the South Pacific, with a blend of natural beauty, cultural richness, and exciting infrastructure. The country is an ideal destination for both leisure and business travelers, offering a wide range of activities and experiences.

"Fiji continues to support Fiji, and improve existing bilateral relations through technical help and training." - Pakea Nason, Chairman, FIB-FINTEL

"Japanese firms will be among the first ICT companies to base themselves in the business park, with their organization helping to provide guidance and advice." - Pakea Nason, Chairman, FIB-FINTEL

Japan is a major investor in the Pacific region, with strong economic ties to Fiji. The government of Fiji is committed to attracting new investment and stimulating economic growth. The country is well-positioned to attract new investment and stimulate economic growth.

Minister Bainimarama adds. "Fiji is an important hub in the global telecommunications market, with a strong and growing industry. The government is committed to providing a competitive and business-friendly environment for foreign investors. Fiji is a major transportation hub in the South Pacific, with its international airport serving many destinations. The country is also well-connected by road and sea, with several ports and ferry services.

Visitors to Fiji can also enjoy the country’s rich cultural heritage, including its indigenous Fijian culture, as well as the influence of the British, Chinese, and Indian communities.

In conclusion, Fiji is a unique and vibrant destination in the South Pacific, with a blend of natural beauty, cultural richness, and exciting infrastructure. The country is an ideal destination for both leisure and business travelers, offering a wide range of activities and experiences.

"Fiji continues to support Fiji, and improve existing bilateral relations through technical help and training." - Pakea Nason, Chairman, FIB-FINTEL

"Japanese firms will be among the first ICT companies to base themselves in the business park, with their organization helping to provide guidance and advice." - Pakea Nason, Chairman, FIB-FINTEL

Japan is a major investor in the Pacific region, with strong economic ties to Fiji. The government of Fiji is committed to attracting new investment and stimulating economic growth. The country is well-positioned to attract new investment and stimulate economic growth.

Minister Bainimarama adds. "Fiji is an important hub in the global telecommunications market, with a strong and growing industry. The government is committed to providing a competitive and business-friendly environment for foreign investors.