Toshiba brings it all together

Through the whole supply chain—front, back, and side—Toshiba is bringing environmental impact to the company in Australia and the environmental impact in Australia to the company in Japan. Toshiba is committed to creating a greener future.

From an industry standard to a broader, more accessible and interactive relation

New products and services are introduced via direct customer contact and market research. The goal is to develop products that serve our customers, safeguard the environment, and strengthen society. Our company is one of the largest in the world, with an operational weight of 800 tons and a 43-cubic-meter all-steel fuel tank. It was built in 1950, and it is still in service today. The company is headquartered in Tokyo, Japan, with offices in 16 countries around the world.

Kubota equipment has steadily grown in Australia, and the company’s dealers are now committed to the importance of local content. In 2014, Kubota opened a new factory in Adelaide, South Australia, which produces agricultural equipment, including tractors and combines. The company has a strong presence in Australia, and its dealers are well known for their commitment to the local community.

Japan Aerospace Operations in Australia

Japan Aerospace Operations in Australia is a subsidiary of Japan Aerospace Systems, which is headquartered in Tokyo, Japan. The company is responsible for the development and manufacture of aerospace systems, including satellites, rockets, and space stations. Japan Aerospace Operations in Australia is responsible for the development and manufacture of aerospace systems in Australia, including satellites, rockets, and space stations.

Australia is a major player in the country's aerospace industry, with a number of companies operating in the country. The country is home to a number of aerospace companies, including Japan Aerospace Operations in Australia, which is responsible for the development and manufacture of aerospace systems in Australia, including satellites, rockets, and space stations.
Suzuki grows by catering to Australian way of life

Suzuki has achieved robust growth in Australia. With a strong brand awareness and dedicated customer service, Suzuki has established itself as a leading player in the Australian automobile market. Suzuki’s commitment to innovation and quality has been a key factor in its success.

Suzuki’s Managing Director, Toshihiko Hayasaki, expresses his confidence in the Australian market, stating, “We understand the Australian way of life and are committed to providing products that cater to their needs.” Suzuki has introduced a range of models that meet the demands of Australian consumers, from compact city cars to larger off-road vehicles.

Hayasaki also emphasizes the importance of partnering with Australian businesses and suppliers, noting, “We work closely with local companies to ensure that our products are manufactured to the highest standards.” This partnership approach has helped Suzuki to establish a strong presence in the Australian automobile market.

In conclusion, Suzuki’s success in Australia is a result of its strong brand presence, customer focus, and commitment to innovation. As the market continues to evolve, Suzuki is well-positioned to continue its growth and maintain its position as a leader in the Australian automobile industry.
DENSO maintains investment Down Under

By building strong alliances with suppliers and dealers, strengthening customer support in the Australian market, and introducing the Pentax K-7 and other high-end products, DENSO has continued to grow in Australia.

DENSO International Australia Managing Director Neil Kitamiya

Toyota gears up for sustainable future in Australian market

Toyota Motor Corporation Australia President and CEO Mas Yasuda

Honda sets industry standards

Honda Australia Managing Director and CEO Yasuhiro Yasuda

CR Kennedy focuses on the Japan connection to strengthen business

CR Kennedy Chairman and Managing Director George Kennedy

Japanese bank leads the way in Australia

Mizuho Bank, Ltd.

Melbourne – the perfect place to mix business with pleasure

Melbourne Convention + Exhibition Centre

Australia

www.worldyereports.com

To order, call 1-800-358-9224 or visit www.worldyereports.com