Japan announces $30 billion investment into Africa and turns to Mauritius for safe passage

Blessed with an abundance of natural assets, Mauritius is an agile and open investment hotspot that is enticing major Japanese FDI.

The high-profile inauguration of the Port Louis Bypass in Mauritius marks the latest milestone in the bilateral relationship between the pair and represents an exciting chapter in the island’s socioeconomic development. The decision to establish a permanent diplomatic presence in the capital Port Louis is a statement of intent by Japan and underscores the great economic potential which Japan sees in Mauritius. In August, Japanese Prime Minister Shinzo Abe high-lighted his desire to elevate the island’s strategic location, and underlines the great confidence Japan places in its smaller partner.

Mauritius is the solution.

Japan’s Aid Recipients

Japan’s Aid Recipients, they are Japan’s pride and their role of minister of finance and broad-based, sustainable growth. We welcome the Bank of Mauritius.

New sectors we want to develop include the Ocean Economy. Japan has a very keen interest in Mauritius as a financial hub with safe passage and a stable exchange rate. Japan views Mauritius as a part of this rapid rise. Anerood Jugnauth, is delighted his country’s success in Africa, we are number one. With a mandate to promote and maintain monetary and financial stability, the central bank of Mauritius fosters a sound and strong banking sector, efficient financial markets and payment systems, and a conducive macroeconomic environment. The ease of doing business combined with the wide range of financial services offered to international companies, position Mauritius as a leading financial hub for conducting business with Africa.

The country of 1.2 million people is in Africa for some doing business, combating terrorism, economic freedom and human assets and enviable infrastructure. The Bank of Mauritius is growing fast, but now there is a need for Africa. Mauritius stands to gain a lot from China, but the island in innovation hub for Africa. The continent is leaping at a copilots, and investors from all over the world want to be a part of this rapid rise. Mauritius provides this

“Despite this success, the African continent still displays several fragilities emerged from years of instability and governance issues, which may plant a seed of doubt in the minds of investors. Mauritius is the solution.”

Hon. Anerood Jugnauth, Prime Minister of Mauritius

The high-profile inauguration of the Port Louis Bypass in Mauritius marks the latest milestone in the bilateral relationship between the pair and represents an exciting chapter in the island’s socioeconomic development. The decision to establish a permanent diplomatic presence in the capital Port Louis is a statement of intent by Japan and underscores the great economic potential which Japan sees in Mauritius. In August, Japanese Prime Minister Shinzo Abe high-lighted his desire to elevate the island’s strategic location, and underlines the great confidence Japan places in its smaller partner. His firm commitment to Mauritius includes the allocation of an undisclosed slice of the $30 billion Japan has pledged to invest in Africa by 2020 on projects such as infrastructure development and better access to education and healthcare services for people of all ages.

Real competitive advantage

“Despite success, the African continent still displays several fragilities emerged from years of instability and governance issues, which may plant a seed of doubt in the minds of investors. Mauritius is the solution.”

Hon. Anerood Jugnauth, Prime Minister of Mauritius

Mauritius

Connect to a world of opportunities

Mauritius A masterstroke in your African travel plans

Bank of Mauritius

The only route to Africa
Mauritius poised to become the world’s latest international financial center

The banking and financial services sector continues to catch the eye of leading market players with its distinctive business and fiscal policies, solid legislative frameworks, good governance and greater transparency.

In recent years, Mauritius has emerged as an international financial centre (IFC), of excellence based on a solid, efficient, transparent and well-regulated system coupled with an investor-friendly environment. Incentives and advantages include a tax-free regime, low corporate tax, no capital gains tax and free repatriation of capital, dividends and capital gains.

The republic is set on transparent and regulated financial services sector that meets both local and international standards. Furthermore, the country is crystal clear about the quality and longevity of financial services provided that are sustainable and responsible operations.

A culture of excellence in terms of paying dividends has already been enforced by leading global financial corporates that have been attracted by the island’s well-established and internationally recognized banking sector. In 2015, the country’s national rating was upgraded from the rating agencies.

Mauritius has the opportunity to become an IFC in line with its ambition to continue to be a financial hub for African countries. It is one of the few African countries that are welcome to establish financial services sector in Africa.

The banking services and investment promotion and protection agreements. “Mauritius has the opportunity to become the financial hub for the sub-Saharan Africa to one Singapore has had 20 years ago with Southeast Asia.”

The entire concept of having a regional financial center is an opportunity to integrate and socialize and national economies and to provide a strong foundation for the banking and capital market. The country is also looking for a strong financial platform for the Association of Southeast Asia and the region.

There is no other better or better place on the African continent, Mauritius provides that stability and is something that is very deep in the heart of the region.

The country’s perspective has a secret that is not vanish and develop long-term relationships with the world and other regions.

Mauritius International Financial Centre: A Sophisticated Hub for Japanese Companies Investing in Africa

The Mauritius International Financial Centre (MIFC) is the ideal host location for leading multinational corporations operating in Africa. The MIFC is well-regulated, investor-friendly and trusted and has a track record of more than twenty years in cross-border investments, trade and finance.

The MIFC plays a strategic role in shaping quality investment opportunities. The MIFC is also a highly professional and reliable source of development finance and a new opportunity for companies wishing to realize their potential and be part of Africa’s growth and development.

The MIFC offers a comprehensive set of services to Japanese companies, including the Southern Africa Development Community (SADC), Southern and Eastern Africa, and the Indian Ocean Region. The MIFC also has a sound track record with the global economy, and offers a complete range of services that are uniquely suited to the needs of the region.

Mauritius enjoys a track record of providing an international financial center that is a Haven for banks and other financial institutions. The Mauritius has a unique niche in the regional financial services sector that is becoming more important as the global financial services sector is becoming more competitive.

Mauritius has become an important hub for East and West Africa, and has a strong track record of providing a stable and reliable financial services sector. The MIFC has a proven track record of providing a stable and reliable financial services sector.

In a matter of weeks, a full transition to a regional financial center is expected to be followed by a smooth transition to a regional financial center.

Mauritius has the opportunity to become a financial hub for the sub-Saharan Africa to one Singapore has had 20 years ago with Southeast Asia. Mauritius will be the preferred location for banks and other financial institutions. The Mauritius has a unique niche in the regional financial services sector that is becoming more important as the global financial services sector is becoming more competitive.

Mauritius will be the preferred location for banks and other financial institutions that are looking for a stable and reliable financial services sector.

The MIFC offers a comprehensive set of services to Japanese companies, including the Southern Africa Development Community (SADC), Southern and Eastern Africa, and the Indian Ocean Region. The MIFC also has a sound track record with the global economy, and offers a complete range of services that are uniquely suited to the needs of the region.

Mauritius enjoys a track record of providing an international financial center that is a Haven for banks and other financial institutions. The Mauritius has a unique niche in the regional financial services sector that is becoming more important as the global financial services sector is becoming more competitive.

Mauritius has become an important hub for East and West Africa, and has a strong track record of providing a stable and reliable financial services sector. The MIFC has a proven track record of providing a stable and reliable financial services sector.

In a matter of weeks, a full transition to a regional financial center is expected to be followed by a smooth transition to a regional financial center.

Mauritius has the opportunity to become a financial hub for the sub-Saharan Africa to one Singapore has had 20 years ago with Southeast Asia. Mauritius will be the preferred location for banks and other financial institutions. The Mauritius has a unique niche in the regional financial services sector that is becoming more important as the global financial services sector is becoming more competitive.
First class air links
Improved aviation links between the island and key cities in Asia have created countless business opportunities and ensured ambitious Mauritius is making its mark on the global investment map.

L一篇 Louie

The platform to expand your frontiers into Africa

Invest In Mauritius

www.investmauritius.com

PAGE: 88 CMYK

The Japan Times

Tuesday, January 17, 2017

Special Economic Reports

GLOBAL INSIGHT MAURITIUS

www.global-insight.net

Ocean's treasures

The turpentine and transalvinal waters of this quiet corner of the Indian Ocean bring with them countless species of fish and marine life, offering investors a myriad of ways to tap into its underwater riches.

Potential investors and/or industry experts from India, China, Singapore and Mauritius have already shown serious interest in the sector.

"We have had a long-lasting friendship with Japan. If we can work together, we can break new ground," said Pratik Ratnani, CEO of subsidiary of Mitsubishi Corporation.

"If Port Louis is to become a major port in this part of the world, we inevitably need to be well connected with increased sea connectivity, especially with our Indian Ocean Islands and the eastern and southern African ports.

"We also need to improve our port performance and related services in line with international benchmarks. My government is giving special attention to the development of cruise trade and cruise-related activities in Mauritius."

"The benefits that our economy will reap from a fully dedicated cruise terminal are numerous and will include, inter alia, a significant boost to the tourism industry, and I hope to see the first vessels calling at Mauritius within the next two years."

"This will also allow us to attract the much-needed fish market with a large stock of fish and seafood products."

"Moreover, a National Ocean Board has been set up to drive and implement projects as regards to the Ocean Economy. Mauritius actually has the potential to develop as a major port for the region."

"As our manufacturing industry grows through our market access to the Common Market of Eastern and Southern Africa and the South African Development Community country.

"The benefits that our economy will reap from a fully dedicated cruise terminal are numerous and will include, inter alia, a significant boost to the tourism industry, and I hope to see the first vessels calling at Mauritius within the next two years.

"This will also allow us to attract the much-needed fish market with a large stock of fish and seafood products."

"Moreover, a National Ocean Board has been set up to drive and implement projects as regards to the Ocean Economy. Mauritius actually has the potential to develop as a major port for the region."

"As our manufacturing industry grows through our market access to the Common Market of Eastern and Southern Africa and the South African Development Community country.

"The benefits that our economy will reap from a fully dedicated cruise terminal are numerous and will include, inter alia, a significant boost to the tourism industry, and I hope to see the first vessels calling at Mauritius within the next two years.

"This will also allow us to attract the much-needed fish market with a large stock of fish and seafood products."

"Moreover, a National Ocean Board has been set up to drive and implement projects as regards to the Ocean Economy. Mauritius actually has the potential to develop as a major port for the region."

"As our manufacturing industry grows through our market access to the Common Market of Eastern and Southern Africa and the South African Development Community country.
Japanese expertise to create a talent market for Mauritius

By embracing state-of-the-art technology, Mauritius has developed a successful ICT sector that employs tens of thousands of people and is a regional ICT hub.

The government has placed ICT at the forefront of its development strategy and is eager to expand the sector.

“Mauritius is one of the best places to do business in the world,” says Xavier-Luc Duval, deputy prime minister.

He says that with strategic planning, Mauritius has created the necessary environment for companies to establish bases in the country.

The ICT sector has experienced massive growth in recent years and is now one of the fastest-growing sectors in the economy.

Mauritius is ranked first in Africa in cybersecurity and second in Africa — behind Egypt — in terms of digital readiness.

The government has established a National Cyber Security Authority and a National Cyber Security Strategy to protect against cybercrime.

Innovation · Infrastructure · Market Access · Return on Investment.