Poland should be the first point of contact for Japanese companies investing in Europe. A strong Polish–Japanese business relationship gives companies an additional advantage for entering European markets. We have worked closely with Japanese companies in various industries: automotive, IT, electronics, oil & gas, and financial services. Our key role is establishing strong relationships between foreign companies and Japan, assisting them in entering the Polish market and expanding their operations.

Poland, as a member of the European Union, offers numerous advantages for Japanese businesses. Its central location, a dynamic economy, and a skilled workforce make it an attractive destination for investment. The Polish government is committed to creating a business-friendly environment, ensuring a stable regulatory framework, and providing support for foreign investors. Additionally, the European Union provides access to a vast market, given the free movement of goods and people within the EU. The Polish membership in the European Union has contributed to increased trade and investment between Poland and Japan.

The strong Polish–Japanese friendship and economic ties have been further strengthened in recent years by various initiatives. The Polish government has been actively promoting Poland as an investment location, facilitating closer cooperation between Polish and Japanese businesses.

Poland and Japan have a long history of diplomatic and cultural exchange, which has laid the foundation for a strong and resilient economic relationship. The shared values of democracy, rule of law, and free market principles have contributed to the development of a mutually beneficial partnership.

The Polish government has been working to create a favorable business environment for Japanese companies, providing incentives and support services. The aim is to attract Japanese investors and encourage them to deepen their engagement with the Polish market, fostering long-term business relationships.

In conclusion, Poland offers a compelling investment location for Japanese companies, providing a fertile ground for the growth of bilateral trade and business ties. The strong historical connections, shared values, and favorable economic conditions make Poland an attractive destination for Japanese investors seeking to expand their presence in the European market.
