Anima Brands: Masters of the open metaverse

Delivering digital property rights to the world’s gamers and internet users, thereby creating a new asset class and play-to-earn economies across industries spanning from gaming and entertainment to education through NFTs (non-fungible tokens).

"We're a very unique company in that we want the growth of the open metaverse to scale with the growth of the metaverse, so the Anima, Anima Brands Group President, "We want to play the role as an ecosystem facilitator in contributing to the growth of the Web. Most importantly, we think that by democratizing the internet, we are enabling new forms of digital rights for everyone, not just artists."

"Some of our key strategic initiatives are:"
- Building an ecosystem that supports creators and artists, providing them with tools and services to monetize their digital assets.
- Creating a decentralized governance model that allows creators to maintain control over their digital assets.
- Developing a robust infrastructure for the open metaverse, including a scalable, secure, and user-friendly platform.
